SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

No. 70-314

Brunette Machine Works, Ltd., Petitioner, v. Kockum Industries, Inc.	}	On Writ of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

[May —, 1972]

MR. JUSTICE MARSHALL delivered the opinion of the Court.

Section 1391 (d) of the United States Judicial Code provides that “an alien may be sued in any district.” Section 1400 (b) provides that “any civil action for patent infringement may be brought in the judicial district where the defendant resides, or where the defendant has committed acts of infringement and has a regular and established place of business.” We are asked to decide which provision governs the venue of an action for patent infringement against an alien defendant.

Respondent Kockum, an Alabama corporation doing business in Oregon, holds a United States patent on a machine that removes bark from logs. Kockum claims that petitioner Brunette, a Canadian corporation, has infringed that patent by assisting two American manufacturers to make and sell similar machines.<sup>1</sup> Kockum obtained service of process on Brunette in Oregon, under that State’s long-arm statute, Ore. Rev. Stat. § 14.035,

<sup>1</sup> Respondent’s suit against one of those manufacturers, an Oregon corporation, is now pending on appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Kockum Industries, Inc. v. Salem Equipment, Inc., No. 25870.
