SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

No. 72-1154

From: Stewart, J.
Circulated: NOV 28 197

Recirculated: _____

John P. Foley, Jr., et al.,
Petitioners,
v.
Blair & Co., Inc., et al. } On Writ of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

[December —, 1973]

PER CURIAM.

Blair & Co., Inc., was a member of the New York Stock Exchange, engaged in the general brokerage and commission business. In the early summer of 1970, as the result of operating losses and a shrinkage of capital, Blair began a program of self-liquidation, which involved the transfer of customer accounts to other broker-dealers and the delivery of securities to customers so requesting. Blair apparently believed that its resources were sufficient to allow it to discharge its obligations to all customers and general creditors through this program. In September of 1970, however, Blair concluded that successful implementation of this program might require the assistance of a Special Trust Fund which the New York Stock Exchange had established in 1964 to avoid bankruptcy of member firms.¹

Consequently, on September 21, 1970, Blair entered into an agreement with the New York Stock Exchange, whereby the trustees of the special fund would make loans and guarantees to protect Blair's customers against loss. The agreement provided that the first such loan, guarantee, or advance by the Fund would give the New
