Nos. 78-857 AND 78-997

National Labor Relations Board,

Yeshiva University Faculty
Association, Petitioner,

78-997 v.
Yeshiva University.

On Writs of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

[January —, 1980]

MR. JUSTICE BRENNAN, dissenting.

In holding that the full-time faculty members of Yeshiva University are not covered employees under the National Labor Relations Act, but instead fall within the exclusion for supervisors and managerial employees, the Court disagrees with the determination of the National Labor Relations Board. Because I believe that the Board's decision was neither irrational nor inconsistent with the Act, I respectfully dissent.

Almost 10 years ago the Board first asserted jurisdiction over private nonprofit institutions of higher education. Cornell University, 183 N. L. R. B. 329 (1970). Since then, the Board has often struggled with the procrustean task of attempting to implement in the altogether different environment of the academic community the broad directives of a statutory scheme designed for the bureaucratic industrial workplace. See, e. g., Adelphi University, 195 N. L. R. B. 639, 648 (1972). Resolution of the particular issue presented in this case—whether full-time faculty members are covered “employees” under the Act—is but one of several challenges

I see no valid reason why your honorary degree from Yeshiva should disqualify you from writing the Court opinion in this case. But the pertinent question, I suppose, is whether you yourself would in any way feel uncomfortable in being the author.

78-857; 997 Yeshiva

Dear Chief:

I am happy to prepare an opinion for the Court in the above cases, unless there is thought that my having received an honorary degree from Yeshiva in 1976 might make this arguably inappropriate.

The Conference agreed that this was no reason for me to recuse myself. If I author the Court's opinion, would this put a different light on the question?

I am sending a copy of this note to the Conference, and would welcome your views.

[November —, 1979]

MR. JUSTICE POWELL delivered the opinion of the Court.

Supervisors and managerial employees are excluded from the categories of employees entitled to the benefits of collective bargaining under the National Labor Relations Act.¹ The question presented is whether the full-time faculty of Yeshiva University fall within those exclusions.

I

Yeshiva is a private university which conducts a broad range of arts and sciences programs at its five undergraduate and eight graduate schools in New York City. On October 30, 1974, the Yeshiva University Faculty Association (Union) filed a representation petition with the National Labor Relations Board (Board). The Union sought certification as bargaining agent for the full-time faculty members at 10 of the 13

Re: Nos. 78-857; and 78-997 - Yeshiva

Dear Lewis:

I thought that it was pretty well talked out at Conference on Friday that your having received an honorary degree from Yeshiva in 1976 should not disqualify you from participating in this case. I think if we were to say that although you could participate in the case and vote in it, you could not sign the opinion as its author, we would truly be elevating form over substance. Therefore, I see no reason why you should not accept the Chief's assignment of the preparation of the opinion of the Court in this case to you.

Re: 78-857 and 78-997 - Yeshiva University

Dear Lewis:

Only because the absence of a letter might be misunderstood do I confirm in writing what I indicated at Conference. Having thought through a somewhat similar problem when I authored the opinion in Cannon, I surely and most strongly have concluded that it is entirely proper for you to write the opinion in Yeshiva.

I might add, that unlike Bill Rehnquist, I do think there might be situations in which it might be better for a particular Member of the Court not to write the opinion even though it was proper to participate. There were a few occasions on the Court of Appeals in which we thought that a non-disqualifying factor was still sufficiently significant to affect the writing assignment. I definitely would not think that this is such a case however.

Respectfully,

Mr. Justice Powell
